

Dan Hang

President, COO

Dan brings 20+ years of driving growth in public and private technology companies in a range of roles. After starting his career as a technical sales engineer at Akamai, Dan joined the founding team and Trulia in its early days and built up the product team that owned all revenue for the company. After seeing Trulia through its IPO and eventual sale to Zillow Group, Dan led the Rentals division at Zillow before joining Revinate. Dan has a passion for solving business problems through the creative application of technology.

Dan is an avid trail runner, mountain biker, and skier who enjoys doing just about anything possible outside with his wife, two children, and dog in Marin County, CA.
