

Raj Singh

Chief Marketing Officer

Raj Singh is a futurist, public speaker, and entrepreneur. He founded Go Moment, an AI hotel technology company backed by Google. Prior to Revinate's acquisition, as the CEO of Go Moment, Raj was involved in scaling the business and in deepening the capabilities of Ivy - the world's first AI-powered digital concierge. During his 7 years at Go Moment, he was instrumental in developing co-creating alliances with IBM, Amadeus, and Google. Raj is currently on a mission to make a billion people smile - a mission that is partly supported by Ivy.

Besides his professional ventures, his current preoccupations include biohacking and artistic ventures that fall between the interplay of design and technology. He blogs about his preoccupations at RS|LA.
